

Carolina Consortium on Human Development: Spring 2017
Modeling Heterogeneous Patterns and Pathways in Development:
 What Have We Learned? (Psychology 781)

Meetings are on Mondays from 2:00-3:15 PM in the CDS lower level classroom. (Class 3:30-5:00 PM)

Date	Speaker	Institutional Affiliation	Title	Readings
01/16	No meeting; MLK Jr. Holiday	--	--	--
01/23	No speaker; Class meeting only	--	--	--
01/30	Gitta Lubke	Notre Dame	Issues to consider when fitting mixture models	Reading 1; Reading 2; Reading 3
02/06	Doug Steinley	University of Missouri	TBA
02/13	Heathe Luz Reyes	UNC-CH	Pitbulls and Vipers? Modeling heterogeneity in teen dating violence using person-centered approaches
02/20	Dan Bauer	UNC-CH	Using mixture models to study development: Problems and opportunities	Reading 1; Reading 2
02/27	Stephanie Zerwas	UNC-CH	Trans-generational cycle of risk for eating disorders through infancy, childhood and adolescence	Reading 1; Reading 2; Reading 3
03/06	No speaker; Class meeting only	--	--	--
03/13	No meeting: Spring Break	--	--	--
03/20	Candice Odgers	Duke University	TBA	TBA
03/27	Elena Erosheva	University of Washington	Understanding individual differences in criminal careers: to group or not to group?
04/03	Katherine Masyn	Georgia State University	Nomological or nomo-illogical networks for longitudinal mixtures? Relating observables to unobserved heterogeneity in developmental processes.	Reading 1; Reading 2; Reading 3; Reading 4;
04/10	No meeting	--	--	--
04/17	Richard Van Dorn, Stephen Tueller, Kiersten Johnson	RTI	Heterogeneity in Mental Health Services Research: Context-Driven Methods	Reading 1; Reading 2
04/24	Kenneth Sher	University of Missouri	Personality Processes Related to the Development and Resolution of Alcohol Use Disorders Cairns Capstone Lecture*	Reading 1; Reading 2; Reading 3; Reading 4
05/01	Student Presentations/Debate	--	--	--

*The Cairns Capstone Lecture will be in Graham Memorial on UNC Chapel Hill's Campus.